MARCEL H. VAN HERPEN

PUTIN’S PROPAGANDA MACHINE:

SOFT POWER AND RUSSIAN FOREIGN POLICY

(Lanham, MA: Rowman & Littlefield)

The first complete book on Putin’s “information war”
“Marcel H. Van Herpen’s carefully researched book provides a detailed analysis of the dynamics of Russia’s ‘propaganda machine,’ shows how and why it consolidated during the Putin regime, and explains just what role it plays in Putin’s policies toward Ukraine as well as the West. A must-read for anyone concerned about the expansionist goals of Putin’s Russia.”

- ALEXANDER J. MOTYL, RUTGERS UNIVERSITY – NEWARK

“An important and comprehensive study that anyone interested in Russia policy should read.”

- NIKOLAS GVOSDEV, THE NATIONAL INTEREST

“Russia’s soft power successes have been noticed by the American and European policy communities, but scholarly production has been tardy with an analysis of the phenomenon that changed our perception of Russia. Van Herpen’s timely book provides a compelling analysis of the Russian strategy of branding itself abroad and its ability to generate support and bedfellows. A must-read book for those following Russian affairs.”

- MARLENE LARUELLE, ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR, INSTITUTE FOR EUROPEAN, RUSSIAN, AND EURASIAN STUDIES, GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY
